

Athena Column Plinths

The Athena Plinths combine ancient architectural detail and modern display solutions, giving you a plinth that looks classic yet modern. The durable white corinthian column is coated with a fine marble powder which gives a textured surface, capped with a highly polished marble top. The Corinthian top is mounted onto a solid cylindrical metal frame made from powder coated black steel at a thickness of 16mm. Due to the more delicate nature of this plinth it will only support a weight of approximately 60kg. Available in various height options.
